Project Title: Neon Genesis Evangelion

This website will have multiple pages, some buttons that pull up iconic scenes of the anime. It will show the more aesthetic appeal of the anime (the official website is very bland and corporate). Website navigation will be at the top but also could have a few easter eggs where clicking something might bring the user to an environment somewhere in NERV that's top secret. I think character introduction, production team details, lore, and concepts would be more than enough to populate the website.

- Home page/introduction: A simple image of the entrance to NERV. It may open once interacted with, then open up to the plot of the anime.
- Characters: list of characters with their images accompanied with descriptions.
- Aesthetics/themes: Looking at the iconic scenes, designs, music, and art of the anime.
- Production: talk about the people that worked on the anime and how it came about.
- Recognitions and Impact: highlighting the contribution Evangelion made to modern day anime.
- Sources: to list where you got your pictures and information from.
